This figure is a sequence diagram illustrating a process flow across three horizontal timelines. The top timeline features a series of vertical segments and black rectangles, with a prominent vertical line connecting the first rectangle to the second. The middle timeline shows a single vertical segment followed by two black diamond shapes. The bottom timeline consists of several vertical segments and black rectangles. Vertical lines connect specific points between the three timelines, such as the first vertical segment of the bottom line connecting to the second vertical segment of the middle line, and the second vertical segment of the bottom line connecting to the second vertical segment of the top line.
