

Ant.
4.

ox túr- tu-ris

The first line of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing up and down, indicating pitch. The lower staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing down, indicating pitch. The notes are connected by a continuous line, suggesting a melodic line. The lyrics 'ox túr- tu-ris' are positioned below the lower staff.

audí- ta est. Alle-

The second line of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing up and down, indicating pitch. The lower staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing down, indicating pitch. The notes are connected by a continuous line, suggesting a melodic line. The lyrics 'audí- ta est. Alle-' are positioned below the lower staff.

lú- ia.

The third line of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing up and down, indicating pitch. The lower staff contains a series of notes with stems pointing down, indicating pitch. The notes are connected by a continuous line, suggesting a melodic line. The lyrics 'lú- ia.' are positioned below the lower staff.