

The page contains a series of Gregorian chant settings, each consisting of a verse (V.) and a response (R.). The music is written in black neumes on four-line red staves. The text is in Latin, arranged in two columns. The first column contains the verse, and the second column contains the response. The responses often begin with 'Alleluia'. The neumes are square-shaped and follow a specific rhythmic pattern. The text is in a Gothic script, and the music is in common time.
